Visit to the College of Arms, 130 Queen Victoria St, London EC4V 4BT

6.15PM for a prompt start at 6.30PM Tuesday, 10 May 2016

Members will know that our Chairman, Peter O'Donoghue, Esquire, is York Herald, and we are delighted that Peter has offered to guide members on a private visit to the College of Arms. Since its foundation in 1484 the College of Arms has created and maintained official registers of coats of arms and pedigrees. The heralds who make up the College are members of the Royal Household and act under Crown Authority. Central activities include: the granting of new coats of arms; the registration of family trees; genealogical and heraldic research; advising central and local government, corporate bodies, and private individuals on all aspects of heraldry. The College is also the authority for matters relating to the flying of flags, and holds the only official registers of flags for the UK and much of the Commonwealth. At the core of the College of Arms is a vast manuscript archive of heraldic and genealogical material which has been gathered and preserved over the centuries.

A finger buffet supper with wine and soft drinks will be served. The evening will finish at about 9.00PM.

This event is limited to 20 participants. Places will be allocated in strict order of receipt of remittance. Members are asked to limit their invitations to one guest only.
